

McCormick Enters Joint Venture Agreement with India-based Kohinoor Foods Ltd

June 1, 2011

SPRING, Md., Jan. 10, 2011 (BUSINESS WIRE) – McCormick & Company, Incorporated (NYSE:MKC), a global leader in flavor, today announced that it has signed an agreement to form a joint venture with Kohinoor Foods Ltd (KFL) to market and sell its basmati rice and food products in India. The completion of the agreement is expected to occur later in 2011 subject to regulatory and other approvals in India.

- Kohinoor Foods Ltd manufactures and distributes naturally flavored rice as well as other convenience food products in India through a 300,000 retailer network. Kohinoor® is a leading national brand in India.
- McCormick has agreed to form a joint venture with KFL to be named Kohinoor Specialty Foods India Private Limited. The new joint venture will market and sell Kohinoor® brand rice and food products in India. A modern factory for packaged food products and 275 employees will also transfer to the joint venture.
- McCormick will invest a total of $15 million which includes an 85% interest in the new joint venture.
- The venture builds upon McCormick's investments in India and its strategy to expand sales in emerging markets.

Basmati rice is a premium price, naturally flavored rice which is a cornerstone of Indian cuisine. Since 1976, the Kohinoor® brand has been one of the top national brands in the basmati rice category in India, with a category share above 15% among more than 100 other brands. In addition, Kohinoor has expanded its business beyond rice with the introduction of ready-to-eat products, cook-in sauces, cooking pastes, spices, seasonings and frozen foods. Across the entire portfolio of products, sales are growing at a double-digit rate.

The new joint venture, Kohinoor Specialty Foods India will sell and market Kohinoor® branded food products in India. McCormick plans to work with this new joint venture to provide the latest food technologies and global best practices to serve Indian consumers through their favorite Kohinoor® brands. McCormick will invest a total of $15 million for this transaction which will include McCormick holding an 85% interest in the new joint venture, the transfer of certain trademarks and non-compete undertakings from KFL, and the Arora family entities. The new joint venture will enter into an exclusive agreement with KFL to source, process and package branded basmati rice through KFL's existing facility. Annual net sales of Kohinoor Specialty Foods India are projected to be approximately $85 million. Upon closing, McCormick will finance the transaction through cash and debt. McCormick will consolidate sales and profits from Kohinoor Specialty Foods India in its financial results, with a minority interest reduction to net income for the 15% of the joint venture owned by KFL. In 2011, transaction and closing costs are expected to more than offset McCormick's share of profit from the joint venture and reduce earnings per share approximately $0.02 to $0.03. Beginning in 2012, the joint venture is expected to be accretive to McCormick's earnings per share, even with the impact of incremental marketing and business building activity.

Alan Wilson, Chairman, President & CEO of McCormick stated, "This joint venture is an important step in our strategy to accelerate growth in the Asia/Pacific region. Kohinoor Specialty Foods India will take McCormick's investments in India to more than $150 million and we have plans to continue investing in this rapidly growing market. We are excited about the excellent opportunity to work with the employees of Kohinoor to achieve further business growth with a highly recognized national brand. The management of Kohinoor has developed a fast-growing, profitable business, with vast expertise in their products and an extensive distribution network in the Indian retail market. This deal proved to be a winning partnership with them to develop and launch new products, generate under-utilized assets and expand in the Indian rice channel in India. This venture with Kohinoor holds all the promise and potential for exciting their innovation ahead!"

Satish Arora, Joint Managing Director of Kohinoor Foods Ltd stated, "We are excited about this new joint venture. We are confident it will be a win-win situation for all stakeholders and add immense value to both consumers and the packaged food industry in India. We look forward to the success of this joint venture."

Kohinoor Specialty Foods India builds upon McCormick's investments in India since it first joined with A. V. Thomas Group in 1984. Since then, A/V/T McCormick Ingredients Private Limited has grown into a leading supplier of cleaned, steam sterilized, ready-to-use spice ingredients for the global market. In 2010, McCormick acquired a 20% interest in Eastern Condiments Private Limited, which manufactures and markets a leading brand of spices, seasonings and other related food products in India and the Middle East. This latest agreement is expected to establish a new strategic platform for business in India and demonstrates McCormick's continued commitment to growth and investment in India.

Including India, McCormick expects emerging markets to contribute 12% of sales by 2015, an increase from 9% in 2010. The Kohinoor brand of products fits squarely into the Company's plans for achieving this increase.
